

I am an Arizona Independent, and I write this out of a deep concern for the future of our country's electoral process, not because I favor one candidate over the other. I would feel just as strongly if a major media interest were airing a heavily biased piece against George Bush. The issue is not partisan, it is democratic. A couple of rich media moguls biasing the process like this on public airwaves in the guise of real news is a bit too much like North Korea or the old Soviet Union in so far as propaganda is being allowed to supplant independent reporting in the interests of a powerful minority. What's truly ironic is Sinclair's alleged concern for America's future. Sinclair, and those who are complicit in this violation of the public trust and public interest, including the FCC, are far more dangerous to the future of this great nation than any idiot in Iraq with a grenade launcher.

Please do your job. People like me depend on you to protect our great democracy. Don't be partisan. Don't be swayed by money or other influence. Please just enforce the rules which allow our public airwaves to continue to be fair and free.

Sincerely, Lee Bliss
